Get Flexible

It seems like everything is getting more rigid lately. Analysts and schedulers are facing more constraints than ever. For over a decade we've been helping D.C. departments drop lead times from months to days (even hours) AND get friendly with their bean counters at the same time.

Omni's thoughtfully engineered systems let you hold virtually any part for measurement or low force operations. When part designs change, your fixtures can adapt. Our multiple size ranges and standardized connections allow your Omni system to grow smoothly with your inspection and manufacturing departments. Whether you need to hold an entire SUV body or the volume knob from its radio, we're ready to help you out.

IndustryWeek's Benchmarking Tool Kit costs $995. With all the budget cutbacks at your company, how can you afford to spend that kind of money on a database? After all, how much good would it do your company if you could quickly spot your plant's performance weaknesses?

Where's the waste in your facility? If you knew, you'd be able to correct the problem. And why would you want to do that? Nobody's expecting better performance out of your operations in this lousy economy, right?

WRONG.
